

Occupational Health Clinic

Occupational Health Clinic

Objective

To enhance the health of the working population through prevention, diagnosis and treatment of work-related illnesses.

Client

Any worker who may have contracted work-related illnesses.

Occupational Safety and Health Centre

Services

- ◆ Diagnosis and treatment of work-related illnesses, as well as provision of occupational health counselling.
- ◆ Workplace inspection to assess health hazards in the working environment and recommend preventive and control measures.
- ◆ Enhance patients' awareness on occupational health through publications, video shows and display boards.
- ◆ Health talks and workshops to enhance clients' knowledge on occupational health and health hazards identification, thus to minimize their risk of contracting occupational diseases.
- ◆ Organize patient support groups to facilitate experience sharing and enhance mutual support among patients.

Consultation Appointment

Please telephone or attend the Occupational Health Clinic for appointment booking. Doctor's referral is not required.

Fanling Occupational Health Clinic

7/F, Fanling Health Centre
2 Pik Fung Road, Fanling, New Territories
(Near MTR Fanling Station)
Tel: 3543 5701

Kwun Tong Occupational Health Clinic

2/F, Kwun Tong Jockey Club Health Centre
457 Kwun Tong Road, Kowloon
(Next to MTR Kwun Tong Station)
Tel: 2343 7133

Office Hours

Mon - Fri : 9:00am - 1:00pm
 2:00pm - 5:00pm
Sat : 9:00am - 1:00pm

E-mail

enquiry@labour.gov.hk

Website

<http://www.labour.gov.hk>

Occupational Safety and Health Centre

Objective

To provide employers and employees with information and advisory service on occupational safety and health.

Promotional Activities

- Dissemination of occupational safety and health information through video shows, display boards and exhibits.
- Organization of occupational safety and health talks and distribution of occupational safety and health publications published by the Department.
- Organization of occupational health workshops to enhance employees' awareness on occupational health.
- Welcome visiting groups to visit our centre for dissemination of occupational health information.

Information Service

- A variety of occupational safety and health publications, CD-ROMs and videos for public reference.
- Internet service for browsing the latest occupational safety and health information.
- Interactive computer programmes for enhancing knowledge on occupational safety and health through games.

Location

1/F & 2/F, Kwun Tong Jockey Club Health Centre
457 Kwun Tong Road, Kowloon
(Next to MTR Kwun Tong Station)
Tel: 2361 8240

E-mail

enquiry@labour.gov.hk

Website

<http://www.labour.gov.hk>